17 Year Road Toll 3000 Dead in This State

Three thousand unnecessary deaths on Maine streets and highways since 1935! said Col. Francis J. McCabe, Maine State Police, as he reviewed the traffic fatality records of the Maine State Police.

"This shameful expenditure of life was wasted in seventeen and one-half years," continued Chief McCabe. "The fact that most of these people would be alive today, were it not for driver and pedestrian faults, is a tragic reminder to all of us that we must be ever alert and cautious if we are to survive in modern traffic."

"The three E's of traffic safety: Engineering, Enforcement, and Education, cannot protect an individual from the consequences of his own foolhardy behavior in traffic. Each of us must accept the responsibility for looking out for himself and for others on the highway."

"Otherwise," concluded Col. McCabe, "we shall be sentencing 3,000 more people to death within the next seventeen and one-half years!"

BIRTHDAY PIONEER PARTY

At the meeting of the W. S. C. S. last Thursday afternoon at the Methodist Church Mrs. Leroy Brown was named chairman of the committee in charge of the booth at the Bazaar. It was voted to have a mid-summer sale on July 13 with food, fancy work and candy on sale. The W. S. C. S. will sell Christmas cards again this year, orders being taken by Mrs. Earl Davis.

Local Boy Now Lieut.

In ceremonies Tuesday, July 1, 1952, in Theater No. 1, Fort Sill, Oklahoma, Moses R. Davis, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Davis, Bethel, Maine, was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the Field Artillery Officer's Corps of the U. S. Army.

Li Davis was a member of the eighteenth graduating class of the Artillery Officer Candidate School. The Officer Candidate School reopened in February, 1951, after having been closed since 1945.

COBB - EMERY

The East Sumner Congregational Church was the scene of a pretty wedding Sunday, June 22 at 2 p. m. when Miss Mary Annette Emery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gay W. Emery of Bryant Pond, was united in marriage with Pfc. James Preston Cobb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace L. Cobb of East Sumner.

Rev. Harold Young officiated at the double ring ceremony. Just before the bride party entered the church Mrs. Charlotte Robbins sang "Oh Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly" accompanied by Mrs. Mary Hicks who also played the wedding marches.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ivory satin gown with train fashioned with long pointed sleeves and round collar and a cathedral veil. Her shower bouquet was white roses and ivy.

Attending the bride were Miss Norma Stevens, a classmate, as maid of honor, the bridegroom's sisters, Mrs. Jennette Conant and Mrs. Pauline Martin as bridesmaids and Sandra Stevens as flower girl.

The maid of honor wore an orchid taffeta gown and her colonial bouquet was in yellow with matching coronet.

Mrs. Conant's gown was yellow taffeta and her colonial bouquet and coronet were in orchid color.

Mrs. Martin's taffeta gown was green and she carried a pink colonial bouquet and wore a matching coronet.

The flower girl's pink and blue coronet and colonial bouquet were in harmony with her floor-length pink taffeta gown.

The groom was attended by his brother-in-law, Marland Tripp, as best man. Two brothers-in-law, Clinton Conant and Allan Martin, and the bride's brother, Walter Emery as ushers.

Church decorations were baskets of cut flowers.

The bride's mother wore a green and white sheer dress with white accessories and the groom's mother wore a navy blue sheer dress with white accessories.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held on the lawn at the home of the groom's parents. In the receiving line were the bride and groom, the maid of honor and best man, the bride's parents and groom's parents.

After the bride and groom had cut the cake and served each other, the groom's sister, Mrs. Betty Tripp, cut the cake and Mrs. Arlene Tyler served the guests. Mrs. Elizabeth Stevens, another cousin, and Mrs. Frank Lowell served the punch. Roberta Farrington and Christine Hill were in charge of the gift room and Ann Delle of the guest book.

Amidst showers of confetti and in a much-decorated car the newlyweds left on a honeymoon to parts unknown. For traveling the bride wore a navy blue suit with gold tones, white accessories, and a red rose corsage.

Mrs. Cobb was born in Bethel and has attended Woodstock High school. Mr. Cobb was born in Lexington, Mass., and graduated from Buckfield high school. He has been in the army for 18 months and is to be stationed in Alaska after reporting at Seattle, Wash., on July 23. Mrs. Cobb will make her home at Bryant Pond for the present.

Among relatives from out of town who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Guy Emery and Walter Emery, Bryant Pond; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Chandler; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Tyler and Mrs. Harley Stevens and daughter, Sandra, South Paris; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Forbes, Bethel; Mrs. Preston Merrill and Mrs. Cony Packard, Williamsville, Maine; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Young and daughters, Patricia and Babetta, Monson; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bonney, Gerham; Sally Parilla, Portland; Mrs. Carroll Hutchinson and Albert Cobb, Auburn; Mrs. Corbin Allen, Lewiston; Mr. and Mrs. Marland Tripp, and Deborah, Hallowell; and Mr. and Mrs. Allan Martin, Canton.

WILLIAMSON - CASTONGUAY

Miss Margaret Ruth Castonguay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Castonguay, of Livermore Falls, and Earl Sherman Williamson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl S. Williamson, Sr., Bethel, were united in marriage, Saturday morning, June 21, at St. Rose De Lima Church, Chisholm. Fr. Plourd officiated, using a double ring service.

The bride was gowned in white satin, trimmed with lace, with a fingertip veil. She carried white roses centered with an orchid. Maid of honor was Claudette Castonguay, sister of the bride, who wore green net and carried a colonial bouquet of mixed flowers.

Bridesmaids were Gloria Castonguay, wearing a gown of pink net, and Irene Gauthier, in yellow taffeta. Each carried a colonial bouquet of mixed flowers. The Children of Mary were represented by Pauline Simoneau and Doris Legere. Both wore blue net and carried prayer books decorated with yellow carnations and streamers.

The best man was Alcide Lemelin, with Arthur Raymond and Leo Gallant as ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Sons of Italy Hall in Chisholm. The brides mother was dressed in gray with white accessories and a red rose corsage and the groom's mother wore dusty rose with white accessories and a corsage of tea roses.

The bride's going away costume was a white linen suit with rust accessories and an orchid corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Williamson left for a week's honeymoon in Canada.

Mrs. Williamson attended local schools and Livermore Falls High School. She is employed at the North Jay Shoe factory.

Mr. Williamson attended schools in Bethel and is a graduate of the University of Maine. He is employed by the International Paper Co. The couple will live on Church Street in Livermore Falls.

Those attending the wedding from Bethel were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Robertson, Mrs. J. Howe Crosby, Miss Ruth Crosby, Mr. and Mrs. Julian C. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Earl S. Williamson and Mrs. Leonard T. J. Bennett.

SEAFOODS FESTIVAL TO FEATURE FOLK DANCING

One of the many features of the Maine Seafoods Festival at Rockland on August 1, 2, and 3 will be the Finnish Folk Dance in costume on Saturday evening.

Maidens of the Coastal Area's large Finnish colony will present the native folk dances at the home of their parents. All will be in authentic Finnish costumes, many of which are heirlooms from the northland nation.

Also, the girls will teach guests at the Festival the dances at the Big Folk and square dance jamboree before the Maine Fishermen's Memorial Pier that evening. The girls and their partners will dance to music of an orchestra drawn from the Finnish-American peoples.

Featured too for the evening will be Howie Davison, famous square dance caller of Newcastle, and his orchestra of "Down East" musicians skilled in folk dance music.

Many outstanding features have been obtained this year for the Festival which will present an entirely new program for the three day event.

Sea Princesses from 12 towns along the Maine coast will compete Friday night, August 1 at the coronation ball for the title of Maine Sea Goddess of 1952. Towns entering Sea Princesses in the contest include: Eastport, Camden, Rockland, Thomaston, St. George, Wadsworth, Yarmouth, Freeport, Old Orchard, North Haven and Vinal Haven.

King Neptune and the Royal Court of the Sea will convene at the festival to add to the pageantry of the event and to pay homage to Maine's Sea Goddess.

127 Now In Swim Classes

BEACH PATROL FOR WEEK

Week of July 14th is under direction of Emily Saunders: Monday, Wednesday, and Friday morning—West Bethel will provide. Monday afternoon: Maxine Brown and Blanche Bennett. Wednesday afternoon: Maxine Brown and Sylvia Sloane. Friday afternoon: Maxine Brown and Kay Salway. Tuesday and Thursday morning: Locke Mills will provide. Tuesday afternoon: Evelyn Merrill, Mrs. Luke and Mrs. Van Way. Thursday afternoon: Mrs. Cronin and Mrs. Van Way. Week of July 21 will be under Kay Eames.

The work of these patrols and their organizers is much appreciated as the classes are larger than usual this year.

The swimming classes, comprising 75 from Bethel, 27 from West Bethel, and 25 from Locke Mills (a total of 127 so far) are fuller than ever. This requires more instruction, so June Merrill has been added to the staff. In addition to larger groups, Miss Salwood also has to drive the bus, quite evidently her talents and untiring efforts are the mainspring of the success of the classes. Yet she is confidently dependent on the very able and conscientious assistance of Leland Kimball and the faithful Beach Patrol. This latter group could stand some more volunteers, thru June Greig.

OUR MISTAKE

Patrons of the beach at Songo Pond are asked not to misuse the facilities offered for the benefit of the children attending the swimming classes. The statement in last week's Citizen stated differently.

WORLD WAR II WIDOWS CAN STILL GET GI HOME LOANS

Under certain conditions, the widow of a World War II veteran who died in service or from service-connected causes, is eligible for a GI home loan guaranty. His husband would have been entitled to had he lived. Frederick P. O'Connell, director of the State Division of Veterans Affairs said recently.

The National Housing Act of 1938 extended eligibility for GI Loan privileges to unmarried widows of World War II veterans. The conditions governing widows' entitlement are enumerated below.

The veterans must have served in the armed forces at some period between September 16 1940 and July 25, 1947. If his death was after release from service, it must have resulted from service-connected causes, and his discharge must have been other than dishonorable.

The widow must not have remarried.

A recent VA decision establishes the rule that the veteran's service must have been in the armed forces of the United States. His service in the armed forces of a government allied with the United States does not qualify his widow for this loan benefit.

There is only one deviation from the rule that GI loan benefits are tied directly to World War II service. If a veteran of World War II as above defined returned to action in the Korean War and met his death as a result, his widow is likewise entitled to a GI loan.

O'Connell invited eligible persons to come to the nearest branch office of the State Division of Veterans Affairs for advice and assistance. The nearest branch office is located at 11 Lisbon Street, Lewiston. Maine Veterans Field Representative at that office is Roland A. Tardiff.

Through A Child's Eyes

Bobbie Louise Smith is a 10th grade student at City High School, Senateb, Miss. One day not long ago a new girl came to school. She was Matja Jakabsons, a refugee from the tiny Baltic country, Latvia, which was overrun by the Germans in 1939 and then gobbled up in Joe Stalin's wider Communist empire. Warmhearted Bobbie was drawn to this Eastern European girl who spoke awkwardly in halting English.

When Matja had learned the language well enough she began to tell Bobbie her story. The American girl listened in stunned amazement. For five years Matja was a prisoner in a German concentration camp. And through all her life she and her family had never known real peace of mind, real freedom. Bobbie had never before given "freedom" a thought. It was a birthright in America, too commonplace to be considered. But now this terrible story of Matja's focused a new light on freedom.

What Freedom Means
Last winter Bobbie read about an essay contest being conducted by Union Oil Company, big petroleum and chemical manufacturers across the Southern States. One of the four essay subjects listed was "What Freedom Means to Me." Bobbie entered. With Matja's life of fear and enslavement vividly in her mind the Mississippi girl wrote:

I am an average 15 year old girl the eldest of five children in a typical American family. My father is a business man whose income provides comfort, but few luxuries. Even so, my father's air boundaries, my heritage complete, for this freedom I was born, and through freedom I shall live.

In order that I may further express this feeling let us imagine we are arrested and taken to the town in which I live. From this vantage point we can see how freedom means—in, around, and through us.

It is early morning. The sun is just touching the horizon. Morning stars fade. Around us are cautious bicycles, while in the distance a dog barks. We hear the clinking of milk bottles as a milkmaid works her way from door to door, close behind comes the thud of the morning paper tossed on the front porch by another shuffling classmate, both of whom could become President of our country.

Opening the paper we would find drama, romance, politics, war news, comedy tragedy. We would read it all.

More lights on as breakfast nears. These drops sparkle. The worried anxiety of taxes, coffee and toast reaches on. Each family sits down to breakfast, heads bowed but reverently. Another day begins.

Mother bustles out to work and other men go to their jobs according to their talents and capabilities. "Private Enterprise," we call it. And yes, we must always keep it so.

Children go to school where wars in Africa, Asia, Europe, and elsewhere are taught. Teachers make them feel important. English, mathematics, history, science, speech, band, clubs and athletics provide a day's schedule.

The sun sinks lower and the homeward trail begins for young and old. Church bells ring out on the evening air, reminding each that no day is complete without the ringing of bells. Thoughts to the Maker and Savior of all.

Flowers perfume the early darkness. Supper's had, dishes done. Every one is tired and weary. But sleep is sweet and rest is refreshing. In the life of a child there is no end to the day.

Why should all others have the deep anxiety I feel and dream the lonely searching dreams of an American? Why should others have to live in fear and doubt when I have faith and confidence?

Accepting Fate Helps You Relax

HENRY GOTTLIEB, St. Albans, Long Island, got out of bed one morning and fell back. The room started spinning, he was very dizzy, and had to lie down. After a few moments of not believing what had happened, he tried to get up again. This time he fell back for sure, his whole body throbbing, the furniture in the room spinning in front of him. What he didn't know at the time was that the previous several years of business worry and strain had suddenly climaxed itself, and that morning let go with a blast at his body.

From then on, in spite of the six "good doctors" who had attended him, he grew steadily worse. This decline went on for about six months with his not being able to eat, constantly vomiting, and getting very little sleep.

The sardonic moments came, when as prescriptions, doctors would say, "nothing wrong with you; go home and forget about it." In spite of the fact that there was "nothing wrong with him" he became steadily worse, until he seemed to reach the lowest abyss. Weakness had overtaken him for such a long time that he began to think end was near. He had brought him to this condition, fear of his health kept him there.

At last he felt that if he were going to die anyway, the devil with it all, let it come. He accepted that fact, tragic as it seemed. Then he relaxed. No miracle took place, but it was the definite turning point. From then on he recovered in spite of all the pills and doctors.

He thanks God that he is now back to normal again. He doesn't have to be told not to worry, for as you can see he has plenty of evidence to show the tragic effects worry can cause.

Today he has a good business, his own home, a car and a fine young son, and it is difficult to realize that he ever indulged in his former mental attitude.

Happenings That Affect the Future of Every Individual—National and International Problems Inseparable From Local Welfare

The shooting down of an unarmed Swedish plane by Russian fighters may have far-reaching implications.

The story, as told by the Swedish government, is clear-cut. The plane, a Catalina, was searching for another Swedish aircraft which had disappeared and it is now thought that the Russians disposed of it. It was well away from Russian territory, and was over an empty sea. The attack, as was to be expected, said that the Catalina had fired first, but few outside of the Iron Curtain give this any credence.

Two very different theories have been advanced as to why the Russians should have done this. One is that Soviet pilots, who have been propagandized into a white of anger against the non-communist world, are trigger happy and can't resist a sitting duck like a defenseless plane belonging to a free nation. The other—which is more widely held—is that the attack was deliberate and planned, as part of the Kremlin's strategy of seeking to inspire fear and confusion in neighboring states who are not part of the Soviet orbit.

If this was the idea, it certainly didn't work with the Swedes. The government and the people alike were enraged. The stiffest kind of protest was handed to the Russian ambassador. Swedish air force planes were ordered to shoot to kill if interfered with by Soviet craft. Swedish backed Sweden to the hilt, and her military forces were given similar orders. This, incidentally, was a demonstration of rare courage and fortitude on the part of these two peace-loving little countries which are within cannon shot of the Russian colossus.

At any rate, the whole Western world is watching Russia's current moves with intense interest. The recent shift of Soviet ambassadors has been the cause of a great deal

THIS WEEK IN Washington

THIS COLUMN has information that Governor Stevenson will accept the Democratic nomination for the only thing which has been lacking in his health . . . that he has undergone an operation for kidney stones and is now reported good health . . . that he is the choice of a large majority of Democratic leaders. Upcoming as a strong choice is Averell Harriman, the New Deal Fair Dealer, who polled a 4 to 1 vote against Senator Rockefeller in the Democratic primary in Washington.

As a result Senator McFarver, who has been knocking down straw men in a series of primaries is caught up short, and the record is that where he has run up against real, flesh-and-blood presidential candidates he has lost three out of four. He lost to Roosevelt in Florida; Harriman beat him in the District of Columbia, and he was over Senator Rorer in Nebraska, but came up short on delegates from that state.

The likable and sincere Tennessee lion relegated to at least third place in the Democratic free-for-all at Chicago starting July 31, and it is likely that by the end of the second ballot most of his delegate strength will have melted away.

What will happen to civil rights in the platform of the two contenders? In 1948 the Republicans advocated abolition of poll tax, declared for right of equal opportunity to work favored enactment and enforcement of federal legislation necessary to maintain that right. The Democrats in 1948 called upon congress for support of full and equal political participation in elections and, on FEPIC, endorsed right to equal opportunity of employment. But since that time, neither party took any definite action. A majority of both parties is nomination.

They took the freedom that is the birthright of the spirit, the scope of our brains and the wings of our souls. They too could say in their last waking moments "My country 'tis of thee, Sweet Land of Liberty."

There, too, let this wonderful liberty come to every country—men, women and children. And there be the story, forever down and extend it to all mankind!

the house voted 273 to 116 to abolish the poll tax as a requisite of voting in 1949, but the senate took no action. In 1950, a poll tax rider on the clean bill was tabled 50 to 17, the vote being 44 Democrats and 15 Republicans for tabling and 17 Republicans against. In 1951 and 1952 no action of any kind was taken despite repeated messages by the President asking for action.

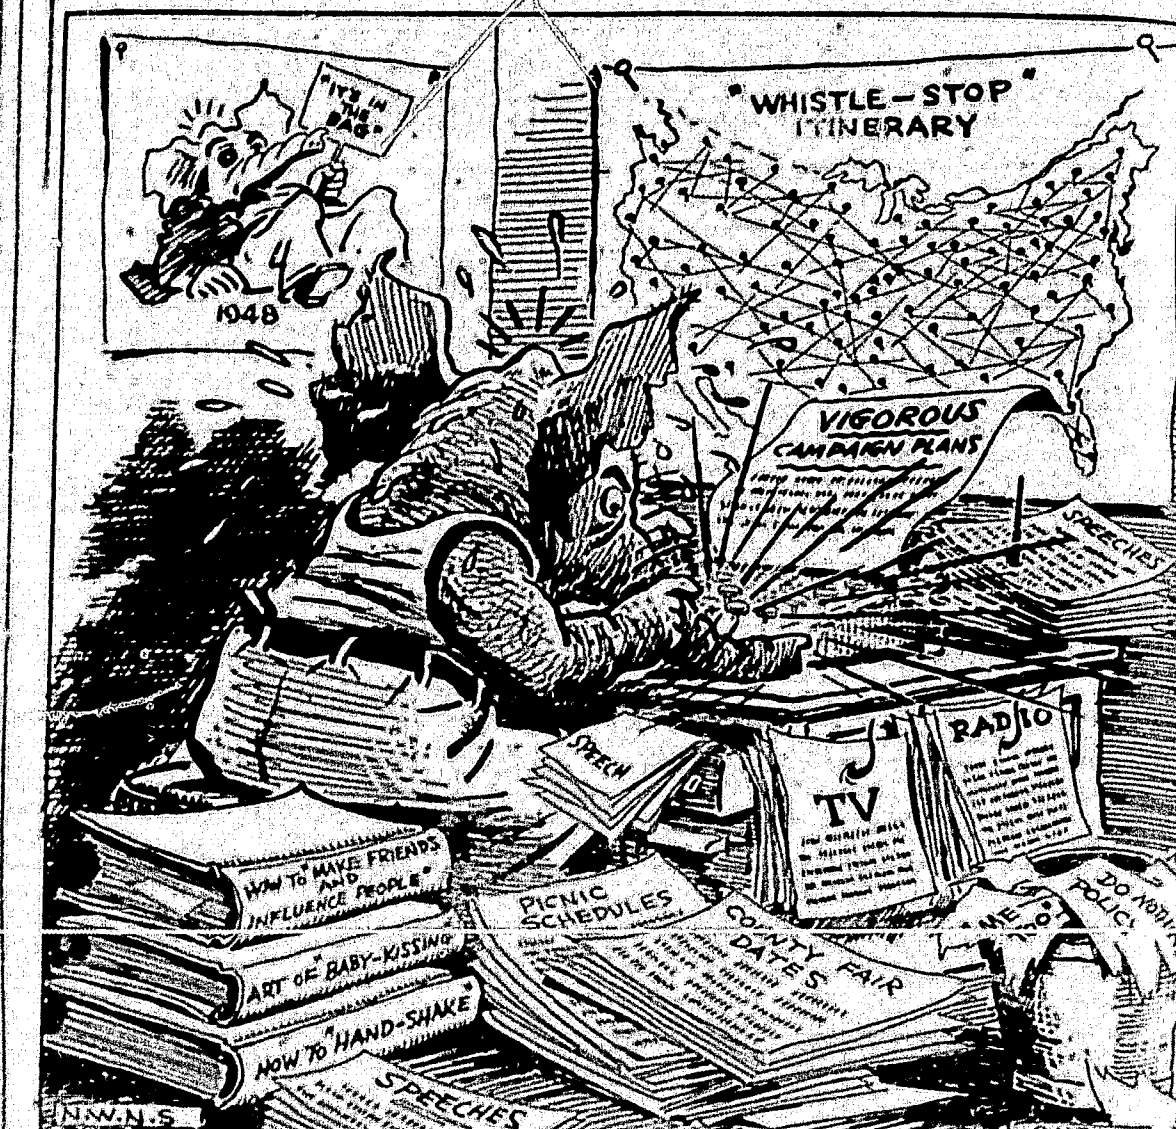

On FEPIC both Republicans and Democrats overwhelmingly approved an FEPIC with investigating and recommending powers only in the house, and the senate took no action after two failures to invoke cloture on a motion to take up the FEPIC bill. In 1951 and 1952 there was no action at all. So both parties failed to uphold their platform plank on the poll tax as a voting necessity and FEPIC to guarantee civil rights to minorities.

This year millions of citizens will watch both national conventions on television. As a matter of fact, the conventions and political parties are not provided for by the Constitution and federal election laws supervise them only to extent of checking money spent. Each party makes its own convention rules. In electing delegates, for instance, the Democratic party gives each state two votes for each of its senators and representatives and a bonus of four votes if the state went Democratic in 1948. At the Democratic convention there will be more delegates than votes, because some delegates will have only one-half vote.

The Republicans give four votes to each state, plus six if the state went Republican in 1948, plus one vote for each congressional district casting 1,000 GOP votes in 1948, a bonus of one more for 10,000 Republican votes. There are no half-vote delegates. So Republicans get 1,306 votes with 804 necessary for nomination.

Everyone Likes Babies

MAXIE that's why so many of them are born. Every nine seconds, on an average, a baby is born in the United States.

In the lobby of the Department of Commerce building in Washington, D.C., is a huge map of the United States. Every nine seconds a blue light blinks on the map, showing that a baby has been born somewhere in the country. At 21 second intervals a purple light flashes, indicating a death.—South Pasadena (Calif.) Review.

Big Boy Dennis comes in with a good one this week. He says that Bill Lindsey and Lige Henry were fishing on Doug Baker's fish pond. After sitting for a long time on the bank, they got up, and just then a big snake dived into the pond, stuck his head out of the water, gasping for breath. It seems that Bill had been sitting on the snake for thirty minutes.—"Dirty Digger" in The Tallahassee (Fla.) Tribune.

We'd all like to be skillful athletes, but unfortunately, we aren't all endowed with the necessary attributes, so, we must get our athletic satisfaction vicariously. When our "Grown" team wins, we share a portion of their glory—but (and this is unfortunate from the standpoint of the participating athletes), we can deny any connection with the team losses, thus avoiding any of the responsibility of defeat.—Eufaula (Ala.) Tribune.

Hot Rod Grandma
Gals become Mom's at a right early age, but this is the heyday of Grandma. She no longer worries about her age, she is the spirit of the modern age. We are living in the age of jet-propelled Grandmothers. Back in the days when to be a Grandmother was a little alarming to most Gals and you were expected to sit around with a lace cap, before the fireplace, watching the offspring's baby, or just waiting for life to pass. All Granny had left was the memories of her more active days. And, who pray tell, wants to live on memories? We all want to live for today, tomorrow, and not the days gone by.—Douglas County Gazette, Waterloo, Neb.

It took but three short weeks for the first cotton bloom of the season to be reported after the first squares were brought in to the Gazette. The squares came from just northeast of Darnell . . . the bloom came in from the upper end of the parish, Concord community.

Now will come the green boll and the open boll; then it will be harvest time again.—"Ramblin'" in The West Carroll Gazette, Oak Grove, La.

As this is written, it's been three weeks since a rain in this area. Nights have been muggy, and sleep fitful.

Despite all this, I'm sitting here thinking noble thoughts . . . Like that local radio station should look into hiring more physically handicapped persons . . . like deaf mutes for disk jockeys, for instance. Then, later on, when everyone realized how great was the improvement, maybe the present yakky-yak fellows they're using on the early morning programs could be converted to the new silent mode.—"Tales of The Town" in The Seville (Ohio) Chronicle.

Mr. Motorist — it's your money that pays for roads.

insist on CONCRETE

Your gas taxes, license fees and other taxes pay for building pavement, for maintaining it and repaving it as it wears out.

Concrete pavement is moderate in first cost yet can be designed accurately for any legal axle load—and it keeps its load-carrying capacity throughout its long service life. It costs less to maintain. It lasts longer. It is the pavement of low annual cost.

Ab-Entrained Concrete Pavements Are Designed for Durability... Proved by Actual Performance

Modern concrete pavement built with ab-entrained portland cement is resistant to freezing and thawing and applications of salt or calcium chloride applied to remove ice.

BLACK CATS ARE LUCKY!

Nobody cares whether cats are black, brown, white or yellow. People treat them all the same.

Certain people aren't as lucky as cats. Their color can get them into trouble.

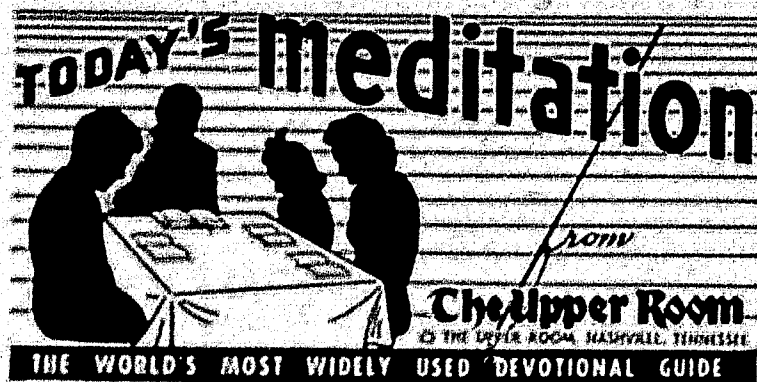

So can their ancestry. Or their religion.

Cats don't discriminate because of such things. Many people do.

Remember that cats are smarter than many people—as well as luckier!

Remember to "ACCEPT OR REJECT PEOPLE ON THEIR INDIVIDUAL WORTH!"

Thursday, July 10

The Lord turned the captivity of Job, when he prayed for his friends. (Job 42:10.) Read Job 42:10 or James 5:16-20.

THIS Book of Job deals with the problems of human suffering, suffering which seems unjust, Job was a God-loving man, but sorrow, loss, and suffering fell upon him with crushing blows.

Three of his friends come to study him and his calamity. They attempt to find the cause for his troubles. They agree that Job's trials must have come upon him because of personal sin, something wrong he has done but which he will not admit. Job ever asserts his purity of intentions and his freedom from sin.

Finally, Job comes to the place where he forgets himself and his sufferings and losses and takes pity on his would-be comforters. He prays for them. When he does this, he is released from his captivity, freed from his suffering.

Something always happens when one prays for others. The greatest blessings come to them and us when we forget ourselves in our concern for others. Our greatest prayers are our prayers for others.

Prayer

Our Father, we desire so many things for ourselves. But help us to forget ourselves in the larger desire to see blessings bestowed upon the needy, the hungry, and the suffering in the world today. Release new powers of life to all through our concern for them. In Christ's name, Amen.

Thought For The Day

Prayer links man's desire with God's power.

Guy Q. Carpenter (Indiana)

People who rush through breakfast, rush to catch a train, hurry all the time on the job, are not the stuff of which saints are made. The tension and speed of their lives makes it impossible for them to strengthen and develop their interior life. "Busy lives" are not noted as good prayers or meditations. It may be that some can keep in union with God even in the midst of great distractions, but they are not ordinary people.

Rushing through life at breakfast speed may enable a man to cover more ground and accumulate a larger bank balance than his more placid neighbor. But it does not pay off where God is concerned. Relaxed souls tread this road to heaven with more assurance and certainly with less wear and tear.

Life is short and time is precious. It should not be wasted in hurrying and fussing. In the final accounting, the individual's supreme achievement is the salvation of his soul. It will depend not on how much he has done, but on how well he has done it. The important thing at life's end will not be the energy a man has put into living, but the number of times he has allowed down to commune with God so that he might grow in inner grace and strength.

LOCKE MILLS

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The Lesson-Herman used in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, is available to everyone who desires to study it.

You are cordially invited to attend the services of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, or the service of the Church church or society near you.

Lesson Text: "What shall I render unto the Lord for all his benefits toward me?" I will take the cup of salvation, and call upon the name of the Lord." (Psalm 115:12-14.)

These services will begin July 13 at 8:00 a. m. Monday through Friday, 7 p. m. to 9 p. m. Mrs. George Wakefield has been named as an

on his would-be comforters. He prays for them. When he does this, he is released from his captivity, freed from his suffering.

Something always happens when one prays for others. The greatest blessings come to them and us when we forget ourselves in our concern for others. Our greatest prayers are our prayers for others.

Prayer

Our Father, we desire so many things for ourselves. But help us to forget ourselves in the larger desire to see blessings bestowed upon the needy, the hungry, and the suffering in the world today. Release new powers of life to all through our concern for them. In Christ's name, Amen.

Thought For The Day

Prayer links man's desire with God's power.

Daisy Coffee Cake

Here's a breakfast as inviting as summer sunshine! Chilled tomato juice is the eye-opener, followed by a light and spicy Daisy Coffee Cake and fried eggs with crisp bacon.

Pretend your family is "company" for Sunday brunch and surprise them with a many-petalled Daisy Coffee Cake you've created yourself. Make this yeast coffee cake fragrant with cinnamon, a day ahead of time and then warm it just before serving. It's made from a basic sweet dough which will help you brush up on your kneading technique. Though the coffee cake looks intricate, the shaping comes easy. After cinnamon sugar is layered in the dough, cut spokes from the circle of dough and twist each one, two or three times.

Daisy Coffee Cake makes a happy addition to the picnic hamper. Since it costs but a quarter to make, it's a thrifty way to satisfy out-of-door appetites. For many of your summer picnics, of course, you'll find it more convenient to drop by your baker for coffee cakes, sandwich bread, and desserts.

Score enriched coffee cakes and breads high in your menu planning. Not only for appetite appeal but for good nutrition as well. They provide protein, three B-vitamins and food iron for good health.

DAISY COFFEE CAKE

1 package yeast, compressed or dry
3/4 cup water (lukewarm for compressed yeast, warm for dry)
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons shortening

Soften yeast in water. Scald milk. Add sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Mix well. Add softened yeast and eggs. Beat well. Add enough more flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl. Cover and let rise in warm place until doubled (about 1 1/2 hours). When light, punch down. Let rest 10 minutes. Roll out to square about 14 inch thick. Brush one half with butter or margarine and sprinkle with cinnamon sugar.

3/4 cups sifted enriched flour (about) 1 egg
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
1/2 cup cinnamon sugar
Confectioners' sugar icing

Fold over. Brush with butter or margarine and sprinkle with cinnamon sugar and fold over again. Roll out to circle about 12 inches in diameter. Place on greased baking sheet. With scissors or sharp knife cut to within 1 inch of center making about 16 pie-shaped pieces. Turn each piece over two or three times to make twists. Let rise until doubled (about 45 minutes). Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) about 20 minutes. When cool brush with confectioners' sugar icing, if desired. Makes 1 coffee cake.

Time Unreal

PROBABLY no belief of mortal thought engages such constant attention as time. People are harassed by too little of it, bored with too much of it, under continual pressure because of its demands and limitations. Great strides, it is true, have been made in reducing some of its exactions; yet the traveler today, flying from London to New York between sunset and sunrise, may actually be more pressed for time than the sailing-ship passenger who, a century ago, took a month to make the trip. No conceivable degree of material progress can entirely eliminate the restrictions of time, for they are the very boundary of the matter-world.

In an interesting chapter of the Bible relating time to the gain of human events is the passage (Ecclesiastes 3:15), "That which hath been is now; and that which is to be hath already been; and God requireth that which is past." In other words, God would have us relinquish the belief in an irreversible past or an uncertain future and realize that we are now, forever now, the sons of God.

The Bible records a number of instances of the overcoming of time, but not by physical means. Christ Jesus instantly transported the disciples' boat across the Sea of Galilee. No period of time was needed to change the water into wine at the marriage feast. When the man in the synagogue stretched out his withered hand, it was promptly restored, whole as the others; time had no part in the healing. In Old Testament history the sun and moon stood still for Joshua at Gibeon. In these and similar cases spiritual power dispelled the illusion called time.

In the textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, writes (p. 168): "Eternity, not time, expresses the thought of Life, and time is no part of eternity. One ceases in proportion as the other is recognized." Man, the son of God, is not subject to time. He is ever present with the Father, who knows no passing of years. There is no future, no past, no unrolling of centuries, in the reality of Truth. . . .

To free oneself from the error of believing that time of itself has actually or power is to loose oneself from the burden of the past, with its mistakes, sorrows, evil heritages and consequences. It is to free oneself also from the doubts and fears attendant upon an uncertain future. Healing oneself in God, omniscient, omnipotent, good, brings present peace and assurance unassailable by yesterday's woes or tomorrow's worries. There is but one day—God's day—and no night can darken it. . . .

Spiritual perfection is not a condition to be attained in the future, but man's present status, to be recognized. Time plays no part in this reality, but belongs wholly to the human, mortal sense of things. As we comprehend more of the truth of being, the erroneous sense of penalties imposed by time subsides in our consciousness and these along with other false beliefs such as sickness and fears, come less and less into our thinking and experience. Man's life is not measured by observatory clocks, spinning planets, or distant stars. He lives and moves forever in God's eternal now.—The Christian Science Monitor.

BETHEL BATTERED 22-3 AS MANY PLAYERS FAIL TO SHOW

The Bethel A. C. was clubbed 22-3 at Rumford Point Sunday afternoon as only five regulars showed up for the game. Two of the absent players made known to the management that they could not be present. The other players not only didn't show up but some of them failed to put in an appearance after they said they would be on hand for the remainder of the season.

For the present time at least the Bethel A. C. will practice on Wednesday evenings all players are asked to attend the practice.

Bethel is host to Bryant Pond at Thurston Field Sunday, July 13, at 2:30.

Next Thursday evening Bethel will journey to Buckfield.

Your Satisfaction

IS OF FIRST IMPORTANCE in our printing department. Particular work and rush jobs are invited, because if we can't do it as you want it, promptly and economically, it is likely that we can arrange for early delivery from specializing printers. However, you will find that in most cases we can fulfill your requirements as desired—and without delay.

IF YOU HAVE to wash linens or white clothing to put away, wrap in dark blue paper so they won't turn yellow. If the paper is unavailable, dip an old sheet in strong bluing water, let dry and use that.

It collars, cuffs or other parts of wooden apparel develop shiny spots, especially from being pressed with too hot an iron, saturate a cloth in hot vinegar and wring out, then while still damp, sponge the material with this. Press on wrong side.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Chicken and Mushrooms (Serves 4)

1 pound frying chicken, cut in pieces
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup cream of mushrooms, drained
1/2 cup thin cream and mushroom liquid
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup milk

Roll pieces of chicken in seasoned flour and fry in hot shortening in skillet until golden brown on both sides. Add mushrooms and cream. Browned. Pour off all but 2 tablespoons of fat. Heat cream and mushroom liquid, add paprika and salt and pour over chicken. Cover and simmer for an hour or until tender. Remove chicken and mushrooms to platter. Add milk to skillet and blend with fat. Mix 2 tablespoons flour and the same amount of water and add to liquid in skillet. Let boil up once, then serve over chicken.

If your dark cottons need to be starched, it's a good idea to tint the starch you're using. Add bluing for black and blue cottons and tea to starch for brown cottons.

Shirts and trousers which have become spotted with paint should be sprayed liberally with turpentine. Old paint can be softened first with soft shortening rubbed into the paint to soften, then sprayed with turpentine.

The best way to stretch a stretch is to stretch it in a stretch. This eliminates uneven edges. If you don't have a stretch, use a line, hanging them over it, and do not use clothespins. Hanging in a strong wind may cause tearing.

OUR DEMOCRACY — by Mat

The GOLD IN THEM THAR HILLS

THE RESERVES OF IRON ORE, THE OIL UNDER GROUND, THE TIMBER IN THE FORESTS, THE FERTILITY OF THE SOIL, THE POWER IN THE STREAMS—AMERICA HAS ALWAYS BEEN RICH IN NATURAL RESOURCES, BUT IT IS THE PEOPLE WHO HAVE CONVERTED THESE INTO NATIONAL WEALTH.

THE LASTING VALUE OF NATURAL RESOURCES DEPENDS ON HOW WELL THEY ARE USED AND CONSERVED, AND THIS IN TURN DEPENDS ON THE INVENTIVENESS, SKILLS AND THRIFT OF THE PEOPLE.

IT IS WHAT MEN AND MACHINES ADD TO OUR NATURAL RESOURCES THAT MAKES UP THE BIGGEST PORTION OF OUR NATIONAL WEALTH. THRIFT HAS A PART IN THIS TOO, BECAUSE THE MONEY PEOPLE PUT INTO LIFE INSURANCE AND SAVINGS HELPS PROVIDE THE TOOLS OF PRODUCTION.

GLASS ROOTS OPINION

Oskaloosa, Iowa, Daily Herald: "The court's majority opinion is equally explicit on the legal procedure that is at hand. It says that Congress not only 'can authorize the taking of private property for public use' but 'it can make laws regulating the relationship between employees and employers, prescribing rules to settle labor disputes and fixing wages and working conditions in certain fields of our economy.' All this as the duty of Congress—not the executive."

Philadelphia, Pa., Trades Union News: "Inflation cheapens our dollar and drastically cuts our savings, whether in banks, life insurance policies, or in pensions. As our voluntary savings shrink the demand for larger government control and protection swells. Few want a planned economy with its elimination of the market place and sound competition, but in general, the public fails to realize how damaging and revolutionary a constantly increasing inflation can be."

San Antonio, Texas, Southern Messenger: "Americans built a strong, productive country because they were free to utilize those resources under a private-enterprise system that was not hamstrung by bureaucratic restrictions on energy and ambition."

MAGALLOWAY

— Mrs. Bessie Harvey, Corres. —
Mr and Mrs. Ewen Cameron returned home Wednesday. He is very much improved in health. They have a lot of people at their camps at Sturtevant Pond.

The Reverend Arnold Tozer and wife are in Errol for eight weeks. He is taking Mr. Duke's place while Mr. Duke has a vacation. He preached in Wilson's Mills this Sunday and will preach in Magalloway next Sunday, the 13th.

Miss Martha Bennett is visiting her brother Glenwood Bennett in Rangoon.

Frank Cameron was at his father's camps over the week end. He lives at present in Weymouth, Mass. Mrs. Bertha West is quite ill at her home in Wilson's Mills.

The McGinley family have a lot of guests at their summer home here.

Mr and Mrs. Gordon Bragg and sons spent the week end at their camp on Sturtevant Pond. Her mother, Mrs. Mabel Cameron, spent the Fourth with them.

Ellis Olson has finished haying. He hired Lauren Bennett with his hay baler and has his hay all baled and in the barn.

We are having very hot weather and gardens are getting very dry. Strawberries are quite thick but it is hard to pick them owing to the heat, mosquitoes and black flies.

DO NOT FORGET THE DATE

All those who were pupils in the Grammar School at West Bethel are very cordially invited to attend the annual reunion at West Bethel, Maine, the first Sunday in August, the third. Former teachers are welcome, too. Bring picnic lunch. Follow the old timers home!

CARD OF APPRECIATION

To my many friends who have remembered me with flowers, cards, letters and candy. Also to those who so generously offered to be blood donors. I am home to gain strength returning to Hospital about July 17th for special ray-X treatments.

Maud L. Irvine
(Mrs. John F.)

WORTH REPEATING

"Sharply advancing prices" such as we had two years ago brought buyers into the market in droves but price stability is also a factor in attracting purchasers as has so often been indicated in the past."

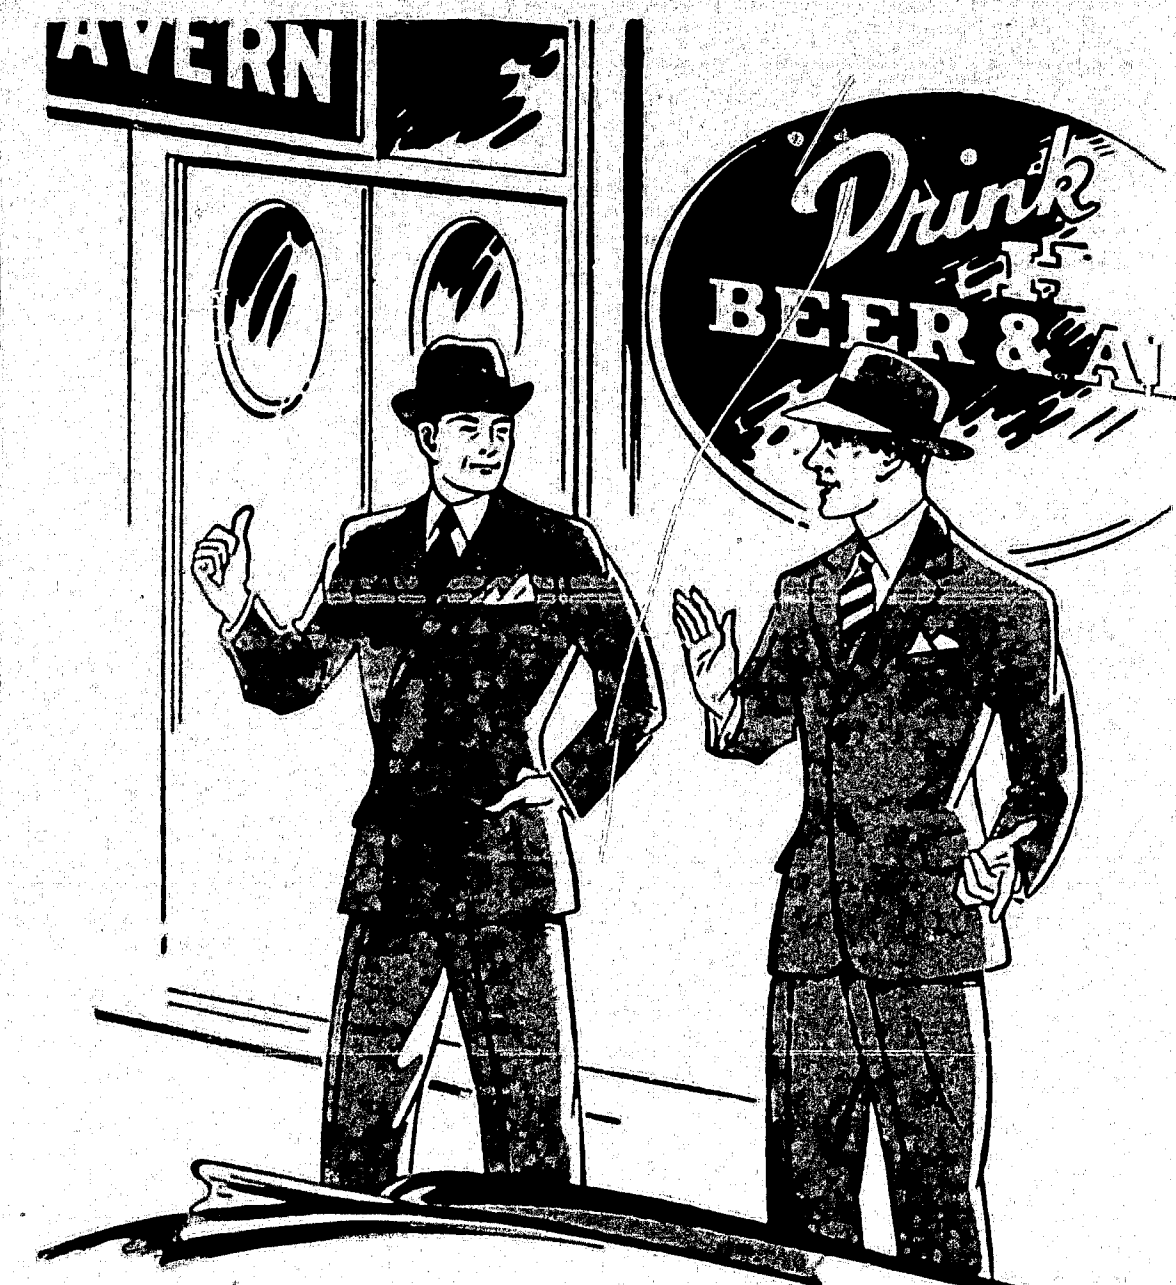

—Edson Smith, Boston Herald.
"Pyramiding taxes, hidden and direct, are part and parcel of the price of any article you buy, and it is the ultimate consumer who, in buying the things he needs to live and to thrive, is also the ultimate taxpayer."—Ansonia (Conn.) Sentinel.

"The man who has a personal interest in what he produces will be sure that quality is present in his work; his pride will not allow him to give less than the best he can do."—Sherman News.

"No, thanks,
...I'm driving"

Smart man!

He keeps his car in safe driving condition... and he keeps himself in condition to drive it safely.

Are you one of those drivers who honestly believe that a drink or two can have no effect on your driving ability? The fact is that just one or two drinks is enough to make an otherwise safe driver a very real danger to himself and others.

The records are full of statistics proving that drinking drivers are three or four times more likely to have an accident than those who do not drink. You may be far from drunk—you may not even 'feel' your drink—but the unavoidable able result of drinking even a small amount of alcohol is to impair your judgment and slow up your reactions. You may think you are just as 'quick on the trigger' after a drink or so, but medical science says you're not.

This impairment of your judgment and reactions may be measured in split-seconds, but split-seconds are ages in emergencies. So why court unnecessary danger? There's no point in arguing with alcoholic beverages... you can't win. You'll be wiser—and far safer—to pass up the drink and step into your car with the serene assurance that your driving is absolutely under your own control.

"Much of the misery caused by drinking drivers is due to the men and women who 'wouldn't think of driving when I'm drunk.' To these thousands there is no danger in driving after one or two, or 'a few' drinks. It is they, not the numbing drunk who kill and cripple. Call it 'light', 'feeling good', or 'drunk', it really doesn't matter. What does matter is that: your reaction, your perception, your attitude are all changed after one or two drinks."

A PEEK AT THE STARS

BY LYNN CONNELLY

PEE WEE REESE, the "Little Colonel" who captained the Brooklyn Dodgers baseball team, recently became a radio star with the inauguration of his new "Pee Wee Reese Show" broadcast over the Mutual network every Saturday afternoon. The program, though live in New York, is taped and therefore able to be heard at the same time—5:45 to 6:00 p. m. in every city where it is carried. Of course, when Pee Wee is traveling with his team, the tape recordings are made in advance and New York gets them that way, too. Pee Wee, aided in this series by NBC news personality, Frank Singler, bats out behind-the-scenes, anecdotes, and sports information such as the proper way to slide and the safety reasons for keeping the knee bent while sliding. He tapes his programs on his many years' experience as one of the diamond-games' most popular players.

YOUNG VETERAN

Reese, who was actually christened Harold but received the nickname when competing in a youngster's marble shoot, is one of the youngest veterans in major league play today. He was only 19 when he joined the Brooklyn Club in the National League in 1940 and tried out for the shortstop berth. He's been at that position ever since, and is one of the most respected players on the squad as well as in the entire league. His major league playing career was interrupted only once, when he served a war-time hitch in the U. S. navy, but he was back in active play by 1946.

The "Pee Wee Reese Show" is produced by NBC Sports Director Paul Jones. It is probably one of the fastest-moving, most informative baseball shows on the air, a natural for fans of the national pastime and for boys learning the rudiments of the game.

"I REMEMBER"

BY THE OLDTIMERS

From Mrs. H. Holman, Doluth, Minn.: I remember when we drove an oxen team. When they saw water in the ditch, they would pull over and have a drink and then come back on the road.

From Mrs. J. C. Pettit, Goldthorpe, Texas: I remember when people would go from house to house and have sliding singings. People would go for several miles in wagons, camp for a week or several days, meeting. People go to worldly things now.

From Mrs. Thomason, Colorado Springs, Colo.: I remember when my mother raised the hops to make the yeast to bake the bread in a brick oven for our large family.

From Mrs. Russell Bugh, Foston, Minn.: I remember taking the bed tick out to the big fresh straw pile and filling it with new straw. The first few nights one would need a rickladder to climb into the high bed. Straw was also used as a pad for the "front room" carpet. The Good Old Days! Perhaps!

From Mary Karch, Lakewood, Ohio: I remember when the well and cistern would go dry in summer, we'd load the hoes with tubs and wash tubs and go to the creek on wash day. Mother would take a picnic dinner along, and we'd make a day of it.

From E. E. Meredith, Fairmont, W. Va.: Do you remember when railroad trains were referred to as "the cars?"

From Mrs. Bertha Andrew, Belkry, Me.: I remember when mother had to wash the wool and cotton and then went to the woods and found the different plants to color it red or brown. Then she corded it, spun the thread and wove the cloth to make our wool blankets, cotton towels and underwear. I also remember the old song, "Just Because She Made Them Goo-Goo Eyes."

From Mrs. Vern Boulton, Boise, Idaho: I remember when I was a little girl, Dad always sent me to the icehouse Sunday morning to get the ice for the wonderful homemade ice cream mother made. We would all take our turns at the freezer.

From Mrs. Allen Thompson, Frank, Ky.: I remember when women rode mules and horses to church. They rode side-saddle, with one baby in their laps and one on behind. The men would either walk in front or ride another horse or mule. The women wore long calico dresses that dragged the ground.

From J. T. Williams, Gracerville, Fla.: I remember when the preacher announced night meeting he said it would start at early candlelight. If he had said seven o'clock, not many people would have had clocks or watches to go by.

From Alice Nixebach, Cascade, Me.: I remember when you went to the store to get a yalkee of keroseene and the grocer put a penny on the spot so it wouldn't spill.

MAYOR McGUP By John Jarvis

THIS IS A BAD FIRE, MAYOR. I'M GOING TO CALL THE FIRE DEPARTMENT FROM ELBOVILLE AND ASK FOR HELP.

ELBOVILLE IS 26 MILES FROM HERE! OUR TOWN WOULD BE IN ASHES BEFORE THEY GOT HERE!

WHY NOT CALL VALLEY CITY? IT'S ONLY 2 MILES AWAY.

I CALLED THEM THE LAST TIME WE HAD A BAD FIRE, SO I THOUGHT IT WOULD BE NICE TO SPREAD OUR BUSINESS AROUND!

Rhonda Fleming, one of Hollywood's most radiant stars, has been named America's hostess for National Iced Tea Time, July 11th through the 19th. Lovely Rhonda, whose bright reddish brown colored hair matches the color of the tall glass of iced tea she is about to drink, is a confirmed tea lover. As hostess she will take a leading part in the many activities with which a sweltering nation will honor "the best summertime refresher of them all" during National Iced Tea Time. Interviewed during the making of her latest Columbia picture, "The Golden Hawk," Rhonda said, "Want to know how I make my own iced tea? For 4 tall glasses of iced tea, I pour 4 cups of bubbling, boiling water over 6 teaspoons of loose tea or 6 tea bags in a teapot. I let this stand from 3 to 5 minutes and watch the clock closely because I demand that my tea be perfect. Then I stir and strain it and pour hot into the ice filled glasses. Sugar to taste. If I'm thirsty, I could drink it! What a drink! And how do you like my Luvvy's Crystal-Flair Iced Tea glass?"

JOHN: Poetry comes nearer to vital truth than history.

From Mrs. Charles Hagar, Bethel, Me.: I remember when I was a little girl, Dad always sent me to the icehouse Sunday morning to get the ice for the wonderful homemade ice cream mother made. We would all take our turns at the freezer.

The LOW DOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

Fellow citizens, nice people, I come to you now with the platform I would choose, if I was to shy sombrero into the ring. It would have just one plank—it would say, "George Washington's and Franklin's and Jefferson's ideas on Govt. are right up my alley, so I go along with them"—end of plank. I would not need pussyfoot, carry water on 2 shoulders, deny I was a this or a that or used to be—I would stand there on my one plank. I would not need to do a double-shuffle from plank to plank—get a foot caught in a crack maybe, and look ridiculous.

For the record, my "one plank" endorses to the hilt, horse sense, honesty and original Americanism. It is not cluttered with amateur do-goodism, or camouflaged socialism or worldwideness. The Govt. would have plenty to do with just the Army and the Navy and the Marines and the Courts. Anything else is fumididdles and not good for this grand land.

Any candidate, right now, if he form on the scrap heap and climb onto my "one-plank" and take off. I will not be usin' same this season, and not being jealous of the idea, he is welcome — if he is a square shooter and on the up-and-up.

Yours with the low down
